The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 34-37, 39-43, 45, 47-51, and 54-62 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fujimoto.

In regard to the above claims and applicants claims of the garment being worn by a human, portions substantially covering specific portions of the body and lengths capable of covering specific regions, the examiner reminds the applicant that the applicants apparatus claim limitations must be patentably distinct absent the functional parameters or physical characteristic of a human body, considering the differences and size and make-up of various human beings.

Fujimoto discloses a garment as claimed comprising: a first and second stretchable portion wherein the first section has a greater straining force than the second.

Claims 38, 44, 46, 52, and 53 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Dicker et al.

Dicker discloses a device having a base elastic fabric and resistance bands of different elasticity.
